I read	I saw	I Learned
(Student answers may vary) Nighttime makes it easier for animals to hide from predators.		Sea turtles crawl onto the beach at night so that predators can't see them.
Nocturnal predators hunt for food at night.		Owls eat mice and hunt at night so they can sneak up on them.
Coyotes use their sharp sense of smell to track down a meal.		Coyotes have to use smell to find food because it's dark at night when they are hunting for food.

I learned

Sea turtles crawl onto the beach at night so predators can't see them.
